- Exit exams at graduation
- Standardized testing
- Monthly fees

- Curriculum approval

- Statement of Faith

Please remember that we are here to support you in your decision to home school your child/children; however, it is the responsibility of you, the parent, to acquire your entire curriculum, educational materials and child care. River Crest Academy IS NOT responsible for choosing, purchasing or providing your curriculum, nor are we responsible for child care or teaching.

ATTENDANCE REPORTS/PROGRESS REPORTS

River Crest Academy desires in every way to uphold to the Alabama State Law requirements for church schools. In following Alabama State Law, River Crest Academy does not require a monthly attendance record. However, we do require that an attendance record be turned in, at minimum, once per year and when the student is transferring from River Crest Academy to another educational facility or graduating. We require reporting of all unexcused absences from learning. State law does require that children of compulsory school age attend school for a minimum of 180 days. River Crest Academy follows the State's requirement of 180 instructional days. Because we have a year round schedule, and you have 365 days to learn, there should be no unexcused absences.

General Guideline for Home Education

This set of guidelines is to help your family make a decision on whether or not home education may be the best choice for them. It is not meant as legal advice in any way, expressed or implied.

TAKING THE STEPS TO BEGIN HOME EDUCATION

Home education is a legal alternative to public education. To take on the responsibility of homeschool is a decision that families are making more and more in the United States. It is not a decision to come to lightly and without thought. Following the steps outlined below will help you make an educated and well thought out decision of what may be best for your child and your family.

1. Research and understand Alabama State Law regarding church school. You will find Alabama State requirements listed below.
2. Research available church or umbrella schools so that you may make a decision based on what they offer to your family and understand the requirements which they make on your family.
3. Find a support group or create one of your own. We work in conjunction with the Elmore County Homeschool Organization (E.C.H.O.).
<https://www.facebook.com/elmore.county.homeschool.organization?fref=ts> or onlineecho.com
4. Find a play group or a group with activities for children in the age group of your child(ren).
5. Decide if a cooperative is the right fit for your family. We work in conjunction with Central Alabama Homeschool Cooperative. You can find further information on them at https://www.facebook.com/centralalabamahomeschoolcooperative?ref=aymt_homepage_panel or centralalabamahomeschoolcoop.com
6. Research teaching methods and learning methods. Remember your first year will be a learning year for both you and your child(ren).
7. Be flexible and open minded. Just as you learn best in a particular way so do your children. As parent-teachers we are parents first, teacher second. Therefore, we adjust our teaching to best fit our child(ren) learning style. Observe your child through play and learn their learning techniques.
8. Avoid grade level thinking.
9. Avoid turning your home into a traditional school.
10. Talk to your child to find out what they would like to learn about.
11. Make use of the many free and low cost homeschool tools that are available online, at local libraries, etc...

ALABAMA STATE REQUIREMENTS

Teacher Qualifications: No qualifications required to teach in a church or private school. A private tutor must be a state-certified teacher. Ala. Code § 16-28-5.

Standardized Tests: Not required by statute.

Freedom from State Regulation: "Nonpublic schools, including private, church, parochial, and religious schools, offering educational instruction in grades K-12, as well as home-schooled students, are not subject to licensure or regulation by the state or any political subdivision of the state, including the State Department of Education." Sec. 2(b), Act 2014-245.

College Anti-discrimination Provisions: “Any provision of law to the contrary notwithstanding, no public two-year or four-year institution of higher education in the state may deny admission to or otherwise discriminate against an otherwise qualified student based on the consideration, whether in whole or in part, that the student attended, graduated from, or is enrolled in a nonpublic school, including private, church, parochial, and religious schools, or was home schooled.” Sec. 6, Act 2014-245.

Religious Freedom Act: Alabama Constitutional Amendment No. 622

The Religious Freedom Restoration Amendment (RFRA), passed with the help of HSLDA members, gives religious home educators another legal means to protect their right to home school. If the parents’ free exercise of religion is substantially burdened by having to comply with the homeschool law, the parents may use the RFRA as a defense or file suit against the state. Under this statute, the burden is on the state to prove that its requirement "furthers a compelling state interest" and is the "least restrictive means" of fulfilling its interest that children be educated. This Act restores the highest protection of the individual's right to freely exercise his religious beliefs taken away by the U.S. Supreme Court in its 1997 City of Boerne decision. 521 U.S. 507

Please remember that enrolling in a church school IS a legal option under Alabama State Law. Local schools, teachers, employees, counselors and the principal are NOT in any way legally entitled to any documentation regarding education in your home. While you should always be respectful to school officials, you are not required to give them any paperwork other than the request for school records. If the school has policy, it is exactly that, the schools policy. Because you are enrolling elsewhere, you are not bound by their policies anymore.

Should a Truant Officer or an Attendance Office come to your door inquiring about your child’s enrollment, you may:

- Ask if they have checked with the County Board of Education in an effort to obtain a copy of your Church School Enrollment Form. This is where that document should remain on file.
- If extremely persistent, you may show them a copy of the Church School Enrollment Form, however, you are not required to give them a copy. Should they demand anything other than the Church School Enrollment Form, request that they put it in writing and mail it to your cover school.
- Always ask for a name, official ID and business card and write it down or take a picture.
- Make sure that you are familiar with the law and that you are aware of, and can provide what is legally required of you.
- Politely excuse yourself from the truancy officer letting them know that you are calling the County Board of Education to check if they have your Church School Enrollment Form. If the Board of Education has lost your Church School Enrollment Form, offer to mail a copy to them. Mail them a copy immediately through certified mail.
- Should you require legal counsel, please contact the HSLDA. We have never had or known anyone to experience this here in our area. However, it is always good to be prepared.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

- “River Crest Academy is located in Montgomery County, but I live in another county. Can I still use you as a cover school?”

YES! River Crest Academy accepts enrollment from families in all counties of Alabama. You MUST reside in Alabama and/or have a permanent address in Alabama in order to be enrolled.

- “Do you have online courses or can I have to buy my curriculum from you?”

NO, we do not provide online courses for your student to take. There are many online schools available and you may use them as your curriculum, however, we do encourage you to make sure that the courses offered by any online school are well researched by you prior to signing with them. You do not purchase your curriculum from us. You are free to use any curriculum that best suits your student’s needs and may purchase that from any outlet you choose. We offer support and suggestions.

- “Is River Crest Academy accredited?”

NO, as is the case with most church schools in Alabama. Accreditation is defined as follows: The act of accrediting or the state of being accredited, especially the granting of approval to an institution of learning by an official review board after the school has met specific requirements.

These requirements include, but are not limited to class size, subjects taught and by whom, number of fire exits, and a lot of things that home educators do not encounter because we are not in a classroom setting.

Furthermore, the Code of Alabama 1975, 16-28-24 states, there is no statutory authority authorizing or requiring any state or local authority to regulate church schools, which may conduct classes in any manner they see fit. There is no requirement that church school teachers be certified or that a church school be accredited by the state or any private agency. No state or governmental agency has the authority to regulate a church school.

To become accredited, River Crest Academy would be told what subject to teach, what curriculum to teach it from and for how many hours per day, etc. Many home educators enjoy the right and the ability to teach their child when and what they, the parent, feels is best.

- “We are moving. When do I need to notify you of our new address?”

AS SOON AS YOU MOVE. If you are moving to another address within the State of Alabama, please notify River Crest Academy as soon as you know your new address. If you are moving to a different county, new Enrollment Forms will need to be completed in order to notify the county of your residence. PLEASE REMEMBER, IT IS YOUR RESPONSIBILITY TO NOTIFY US OF YOUR NEW ADDRESS AND/OR PHONE NUMBER.

- “Do I have to turn in grades and if so, when are they due?”

Turning in grades is not a requirement of the State of Alabama. However, if you want to participate in River Crest Academy’s graduation ceremony you are required to turn in by May 15th the year of graduation.

- “When enrolling with River Crest Academy, when should I withdraw my child from his/her current school?”

Alabama law states that a student cannot be enrolled in two schools at the same time, therefore, when filling out enrollment forms for River Crest Academy, you should withdraw your child from the current school upon completion of our enrollment documents. If mailing your documents, you may withdraw them on the same day that you place your forms in the mail. If delivering by hand, you should withdraw your child prior to delivering the documents.

Please remember, if your child/children is between 6 and 17 years of age, they MUST be enrolled in school, whether it is Public, Private, Church School or taught by a State Certified Tutor. Failing to register and report the child’s registration is in violation of the State of Alabama Truancy Laws and can result in fines and/or jail. For more information, visit www.HSLDA.com.

- “My grandchild lives with me and wants to homeschool. What do I need to do?”

You MUST be the legal parent or guardian in order to enroll a child in our program. If you are a caregiver without legal guardianship, you cannot enroll the child. Likewise, if you are a step-parent, without guardianship or legal adoption, you cannot enroll the child.

- “Can I drop my child off for classes at River Crest Academy?”

No, you cannot. River Crest Academy does not offer on-site classes. We are a portal which allows you, the parent, to home educate your child, legally. This means that you, the parent, are the teacher and the world is your classroom. You may teach your child in the manner that you see fit, with material that you see fit. However, River Crest Academy works in conjunction with Central Alabama Homeschool Cooperative. You can

- “Can my homeschooled child still get into college?”

Yes! Many Universities and Colleges actively seek out home educated children. Testing has shown that home educated children achieve higher test scores and have the ability to study in a self-sufficient way, which are two assets that higher education facilities want to see. A college or University will look at the students SAT/ACT scores for admittance.

- “I have been told that my child cannot get into the Armed Forces if he/she is homeschooled. Is this true?”

NO. Homeschoolers are recruited at Tier 1, just like any other high school student. While this has not always been the case, the Armed Forces have corrected this and all students are recruited as equals.
